Welcome Back: A New Year of Opportunity

MADISON – The start of a school year is often filled with optimism and opportunity. Across our state, students are returning to classrooms, educators are preparing inspiring lessons and learning experiences, and school leaders are working to create environments where every student can thrive. As school board members, you play a vital role in setting the vision, upholding community trust and ensuring that our schools remain responsive to the needs of the students, families and communities we serve.

The new school year brings both new opportunities and complex challenges. Through it all, your commitment to effective governance, student success and strong communities remains the foundation of our schools' success. On behalf of the WASB, thank you for your leadership, dedication and willingness to serve.

As your association, we are committed to supporting you throughout the year with advocacy, resources, training and opportunities to connect with colleagues across Wisconsin. We look forward to partnering with you as you navigate important decisions and celebrate the accomplishments of your students, staff and communities.

We wish you, your districts and your communities a successful, productive and inspiring school year. May the spirit of optimism that prevails at the start of a school year remain with you throughout 2026-27.

Sincerely,

Dan Rossmiller
